NOTES:

- a) Only those countries for which we have reliable information are included in the table.
- b) Fees are given in the original currency as exchange rates vary more often than the passport fees.
- c) UK passport operations (both in the UK and overseas) are self-financing. Most countries subsidise through taxation.
- d) There may be more age or validity variations available, but the intention is to compare the standard variants only.
- e) ePassports, also known as Biometric Passports, include a chip that stores your personal details (these are visible on biodata page of the passport)
- f) The exception to e) is fingerprints. These are only contained in the chip of an ePassport, and are not visible on the biodata page.
- g) Passports containing fingerprints are compulsory for the Schengen Member States.
